Narrative Description of Property: This 2 ½ story wood framed home is built in the Colonial Revival style It has a symmetrical layout. It has a hipped roof with a gable ended façade. There are 4 hipped roofed dormers in the attic. A Palladian window in the façade gable has a center double hung arched window; the 2 side windows are single pane rectangles. Dentil molding adorns the cornices. The distinctive first floor wrap-around, curved porch, is shingled and has a paneled balustrade with decorative spindle work in openings below. Grouped round columns with ionic capitals support the porch roof. Two-story pilasters with ionic capitals adorn each vertical corner of the building and there are similar double pillars on the back entryway. There is a first floor bay window on the east side of the house. Full sized windows are all double-hung wood. The front door has a large leaded single pane light. Battered stone foundation is painted. The second floor of the rear entryway looks as if it is an enclosed porch.

Significance: The criteria of eligibility are associated to Criterion A & C (Properties significant for its association in or linkage to events, and architecture/artistic value) for its significance to the history of Northampton / Northville and as an excellent example of a large scale Colonial Revival.

The first owner of this house was P. Harris (see 1905 map). Peter Harris was successfully involved in the lumber business and he and his wife, Lydia Potter Harris, lived most of their lives in the Town of Hope. Peter Harris was very active in Hamilton County politics, was Supervisor of the Town of Hope and was County treasurer for 33 years. In 1902 they built a “commodious and attractive residence” in Northville and lived there until their deaths in 1910 and 1911(obituary).

Peter and Lydia Harris had 6 children and their daughter, Emma, with her husband Charles H. Griffing (Griffin), lived in this house after 1916. Charles H. Griffing was an astute businessman who became President of International Paper Company and was director of 4 other companies; he retired in 1912. Emma Griffing (Griffing) died in 1932. Only child, Peter Harris Griffen, Northville Postmaster from 1940 – 1958, and wife, Betty Griffen inherited this house. It has been owned by the descendants of the Harris/Griffin(Griffing) family until its most recent residents, the Lurias. During the 1940’s the NY State Troopers had offices in this house. (GC)
